helicopter but is not experiencing significant decreases in depot maintenance requirements because the UH-1's are The Other Depot Maintenance Program request for FY 1990 is $1,737.9 million and $1,919.6 million in FY 1991. The funding in support of Force Modernization systems continues to rise as the fielded density increases thus driving increases in the amount of secondary items being overhauled. Additionally, the previously fielded Force Modernibeing retained within the total Army. In addition, the overhaul of secondary items remains an OMA requirement The fielded density of non-Force Modernization systems is not decreasing significantly as these systems are either being retained in the Active Army or transferred to the Reserve Components. For example, the UH-1 helicopter is being displaced by the UH-60 even when the equipment has been transferred to the Reserve Components. zation end items are being overhauled in increasing numbers.

II. Description of Operations Financed:

The Other Depot Maintenance Program constitutes the bulk of depot maintenance and finances the overhaul and depot placing funds in depot maintenance buys more readiness and sustainment for the Army, dollar for dollar, than does measurement, and diagnostic equipment. Returns from depot maintenance and new procurement are the only sources level repair of major and secondary items, renovation of conventional ammunition, and the calibration of test, provides serviceable equipment to the user at a much lower cost and in a much shorter time frame. That means of serviceable equipment for the Army's supply system. When compared to new procurement, depot maintenance new procurement.

V. Personnel Summary (Continued):

NARRATIVE EXPLANATION OF PERSONNEL END STRENGTH CHANGES:

In response to Secretary of Defense guidance, reinforced by ASD(FM&P) 22 April 1988 instructions, all Army force structure and manpower systems have been realigned to ensure match at UIC and program element identification. This realignment caused significant reprogramming actions between Budget Activity Groups.

MILITARY

The increase of +196 in FY 1990 includes +50 for support of Army Materiel Command's MTOE units and +146 for the maintenance and repair mission. There is no change to military strength in FY 91.

CIVILIAN

industrial fund operations to direct fund operations and +14 reprogramming between Budget Activity groups. The increase of +1,121 in FY 1990 results from a +1,107 for the conversion of Army Missile Command from is no change in strength in FY 91.

overall maintenance process. Excluding effects of Life Cycle Software Support functional transfers, these funding This activity's budget request of $684.0 million in FY 1990 and $702.6 million in FY 1991 finances requirements associated with maintenance support functions. These services facilitate sustaining efforts and perpetuate the When considering inflation, these programs are essentially level with the FY 1989 level and are 11% below the FY 8/ level. This is a result of pricrity for funding being placed on secondary items in order to levels reflect a $45.3 million growth from the FY 1989 authorized level and $17.5 million over the FY 1990 Consequently, the Maintenance Support Activities are now approximately 40% unfinanced which degrades important support to Army programs. maximize support of operating tempo and the flying hour program.

Program requirements are driven by new system deployments, sustaining of the older systems already fielded and the unless personnel in the field and at the depot are provided adequate training, technical assistance, publications, complexity of the systems involved. Recent trends continue with the high number of new systems, the high density sustaining the equipment. A new and technologically complex item of equipment will not improve combat readiness of older systems being retained either in the active Army or Reserve Components, and the increased complexity of if it is not mission capable due to improper maintenance practices. In turn, it cannot be properly maintained automation enhancements and other facets of support within the maintenance support programs.

Maintenance Program and Planning Support (FY 1990 $111.9 million; FY 1991 $114.2 million) is a centrally managed program which provides planning support that focuses on consolidated annual maintenance, long-range workload scheduling and resource utilization. This specifically deals with the development of maintenance concepts/plans in support of new equipment/weapons requirements.

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE ACTIVITY GROUP: MAINTENANCE SUPPORT ACTIVITIES

- Maintenance Engineering and Technical Services (FY 1990 $379.6 million; FY 1991 $392.1 million) includes of maintenance engineering and analysis, as well as technical assistance functions provided to field elements as functions performed by maintenance specialists and contract engineering technical specialists in direct support part of new equipment fielding of older systems.
- Maintenance Publications (FY 1990 $58.9 million; FY 1991 $58.3 million) provides publication requirements inventory. This also provides for technical publications and bulletins pertaining to repair, preventive for technical and engineering data pertaining to end items entering or currently held in the operational maintenance, modification work requirements and lubrication orders.
- improving maintenance management techniques, and initial training on maintenance requirements for new or modified requirements pertaining to the orientation or improvement of technical skills in performing depot maintenance, Maintenance Technical Training (FY 1990 $69.3 million; FY 1991 $71.8 million) supports training

ACTIVITY GROUP: ONE STATION UNIT TRAINING (OSUT)

Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and support of initial entry training under the One Station Unit Training (OSUT) concept. OSUT combines Recruit Training and Initial Skill Training (Enlisted) in combat arms and certain combat support skills into a single course conducted by a single training unit under one cadre group for the entire period of training. OSUT requires less training time than the separate Recruit Training Training (Enlisted) combination average about 17 weeks, while the shorter OSUT courses will average 14 weeks. and Initial Skill Training (Enlisted) courses it replaces; in FY90/91 the Recruit Training/Initial Skill

. Narrative Description

Knox, KY and a two year advanced course. Military training is conducted at advance camp under field conditions recruit, select, motivate, train and retain quality college students to fulfill its mission "to commission the and 315 ROTC detachments, 101 extension centers and 1250+ cross-enrolled college campuses. Cadets enrolled in the program receive professional education through the over 1600 colleges and universities that participate in the ROTC program. They participate in the two-year basic course or the six-week basic camp conducted at Fort This activity group provides for the operation of the Army Senior Reserve Officer's Training Corps (ROTC) future officer leadership of the U.S. Army". The commissioning goals of the Cadet Command are driven by the requirements of the Total Army, both the Active and Reserve Components. ROTC Cadet Command accomplishes its mission by management of the program through the Cadet Command Headquarters, four ROTC regional headquarters by officer and noncommissioned officers cadre, supplemented by hands-on, off-campus field training exercises and adventure training. After successful completion of the program, the cadets are commissioned as second program which annually commissions over 8,000 quality lieutenants. The objective of Cadet Command is to lieutenants,

. Compensable Day - One Day More	The Army is DoD Executive Agent for foreign language training. The Services have placed increased requirements on Defense Language Institute to provide graduates with Level 2 proficiency instead of Level 1. This requires reduction of instructor to student ratios, achieved through team teaching assignments. Instructors are also covered by increased payscales authorized under the New Personnel System which makes DLI instructor salaries competitive with those in industry and academic fields. This improves the quality of instructors attracted and retained by the institute.

PROGRAM: TRAINING ACTIVITY GROUP: FLIGHT TRAINING

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and support of the Flight Training programs conducted Training programs are categorized as either Undergraduate or Graduate Pilot Flight Training. Undergraduate duties and assume the responsibilities of Army pilots. Training through flying and in flight simulators is augmented by flight-related ground training and officer development training to prepare the student for the at the US Army Aviation Center (USAAVNC), Ft. Rucker, Alabama. The courses included in the Army's Flight instrument flight examiner, gunnery and specific pilot qualification courses in various aircraft. Most Helicopter Pilot Training qualifies both commissioned and warrant officer aviation students to perform responsibilities of a junior officer. Graduate Pilot Training includes courses for instructor pilots, graduate courses are of short duration, two to seven weeks.

Program Increases

a. Flying Hour Program (Base: $66,689)	Funding increase reflects a higher rate of cost per flying hour	due to increasing cost for parts, and a change in the type and mix	of aircraft flown in training.

The FY 1989 base includes the addition of $22 million realigned from the ROTC activity group due to changes in ROTC scholarship accounting policies which created a one time savings in that account during FY 1989.  Growth above the FY 1939 program is due to the cost of maintaining a modernized mix of aircraft, and the changing mix of training time for graduate aviators by type of aircraft. As modernized, more expensive aircraft are fielded into the inventory, the mix of piict output changes. While total student load decreases slightly, more pilots are required for more expensive advanced aircraft while costs are only partially offset by decreasing training output on older, less expensive aircraft.

a. Energy Conservation (Base: $121,576)	The Army has invested large sums in engergy conservation devices and	methods over the past several years. The Army engery plan projects a	reduction in utilities consumption in its facilities of 40 percent by	FY 2000 from the level experienced in FY 1975. The combination of	investments in technology and emphasis on conservation has reduced	consumption levels. The downward adjustment reflects these savings.

NARRATIVE EXPLANATION OF PERSONNEL END STRENGTH CHANGES:

In response to Secretary of Defense guidance reenforced by ASD(FM&P) 22 April 1968 instructions, all Army force structure and manpower systems have been realigned to ensure match at UIC and program element identification. This realignment caused significant reprogramming action between Budget Activity Groups.

MILITARY

The increase of one in FY 90 represents reprogramming action within the medical Budget Activity groups. There is no military strength change in FY 91.

CIVILIAN

The increase of three in FY 90 represents reprogramming action within the medical budget activity groups. There is no strength change in FY 91.

NARRATIVE EXPLANATION OF PERSONNEL END STRENGTH CHANGES:

In response to Secretary of Defense guidance, reinforced by ASD(FM&P) 22 April 1988 instructions, all Army force structure and manpower systems have been realigned to ensure match at UIC and program element identification. This realignment caused significant reprogramming action between Budget Activity Groups.

MILITARY

No strength change in FY 1990. The increase of +15 in FY 1991 provides support to CIDC MTOE detachments.

CIVILIAN

The increase of three in FY 1990 provides support to CIDC MTOE detachments. The decrease of two in FY 1991 results from reprogramming between Budget Activity groups.

LIVE OAK is a classified international project to which the US contributes annually based on a set costing sharing formula.

Military Budget contribution. Travel costs associated with NATO missions are funded in the NATO Military Budget, International Military Headquarters (IMH) Support (NATO). IMH funds provide support of US elements of the personnel who are employed as NATO employees. Credit is received for these salaries as an offset to the NATO activities located throughout the NATO geographical area. Due to US law, the US pays civilian salaries of US but US personnel receive the US per diem rates. Additionally, travel for US missions (annual physicals, US There are over twenty US elements and military training, military justice, etc.) are funded within this category.
